We believe that man is an island
no matter what the poet said and all we can do is weave invisible bridges of invisible thread.
But the bridges break and the ends become unpinned and float off like promises on an empty wind.

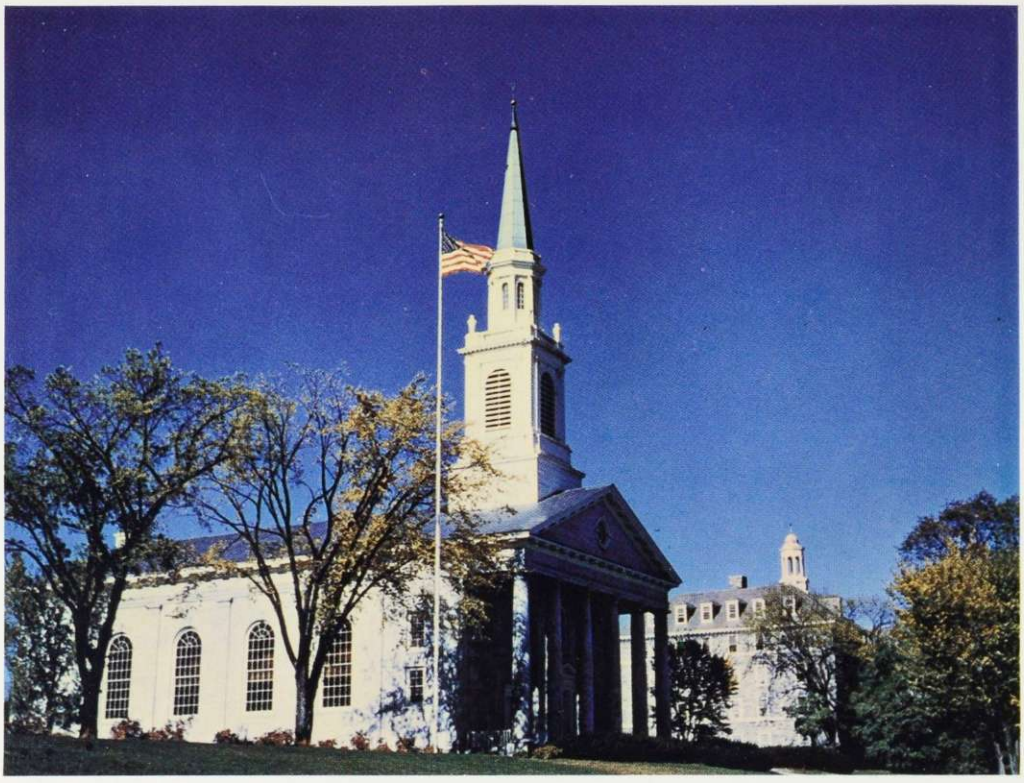
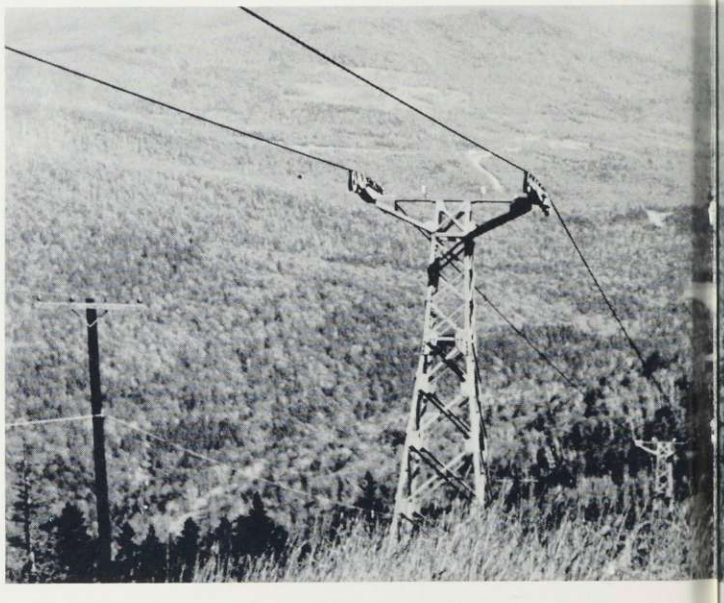
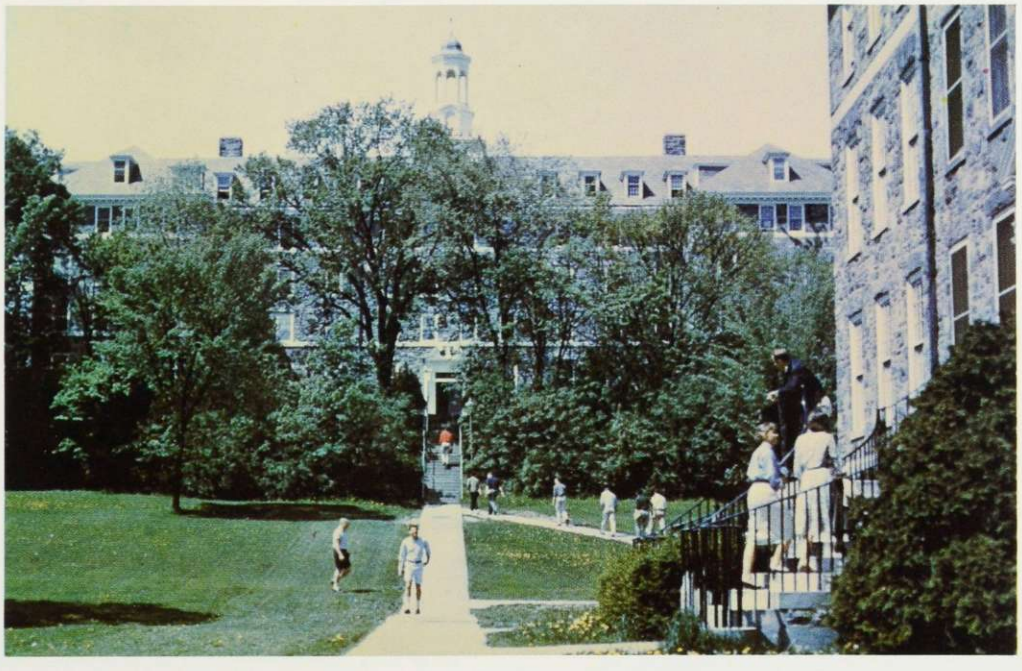
It all comes to rest on the individual. Our attitudes, studious and irreverent, changing and stable, are here encapsuled in a way of life having a four year boundary and an endless influence.







On the whole we travel in groups, but the need for expression is always there. It's in evidence everywhere, from the Crest Room to Wright Memorial Theater. Sometimes we find it in the privacy of a room or the bustle of a crowd.

one of communication of ideals

THE ADMINISTRATION - ONE WAY COMMUNICATION

The job of administering a college puts one directly in touch with policy and correspondingly removes one from direct contact with the students. Less here than at some larger schools, perhaps, is the student unaware of the actions and individuals who enforce policy decisions. This is in a large part due to the action of the administration itself. Notably, the students are encouraged to bring their problems to the administration, and are assured of a hearing. An attempt is also made to communicate on a social level through such events as Mrs. Stratton's and Mrs. Kelly's teas. The decision has been made to keep Middlebury small and to raise its standards of education. It is now the responsibility of the students to see that the values inherent in the small enrollment are not lost. One hopes the attempt at communication will be graciously received and returned.

LANGUAGES AND THE SCHIZOPHRENIC CULTURE

The surest way to become an outsider at Middlebury is to visit in the summer and be unable to speak any but one's native language. Although the summer schools are justly famous, the activities of the language department during the normal term are also noteworthy. In an effort to convey to the students the awareness of cultural and ethnic differences that is basic to true understanding both language clubs and houses wherein one speaks only a foreign language have been established. Thus an attempt is made to introduce the student to a culture and give him the opportunity to live, think and speak in its characteristic modes. This is, no doubt, a great improvement over that rote learning that used to be language study. Although the student may feel at times rather schizophrenic from the effort of participating in two cultures at once, and although the result may be that the minor of the cultures becomes an adjunct of the major, the value of such living and learning is manifold. We should be proud of Middlebury's justly earned title "language school."

Social Sciences:

The Basic Contradiction

"If I put out the light of my own personal experience I cannot see and I cannot judge the experience of others." These words of Ernst Cassirrer state the prime objective of the social sciences in reverse—to judge individual experience in the light of the multitude of experience. From its home in the white frame house the department attempts to bring to Middlebury some knowledge of the direction of mankind. The age old hope of Understanding Man is here revived and dressed in scientific garb. Although it must ultimately be admitted that the term "social science" is a self contained contradiction, that does not negate the worth of the study. The unknown is no longer the unexamined.

The Scalene Sciences

The intellectual life at Middlebury can be symbolized as a triangle, with the languages and humanities occupying the longer sides of the triangle. Yet the sciences have managed to provide thorough and exact training for their students, combining this with the attractive aspects of a liberal arts background. In every consideration of adjustment or growth it is necessary for the administration to consider the impact of the change not only on the majority of the students, but also upon the sizable minority who find here the opportunity to combine basic scientific knowledge and the arts of other fields. The science department deserves respect both for its implementation of the overall goals of Middlebury college and its unceasing effort to provide the best training possible for its students.

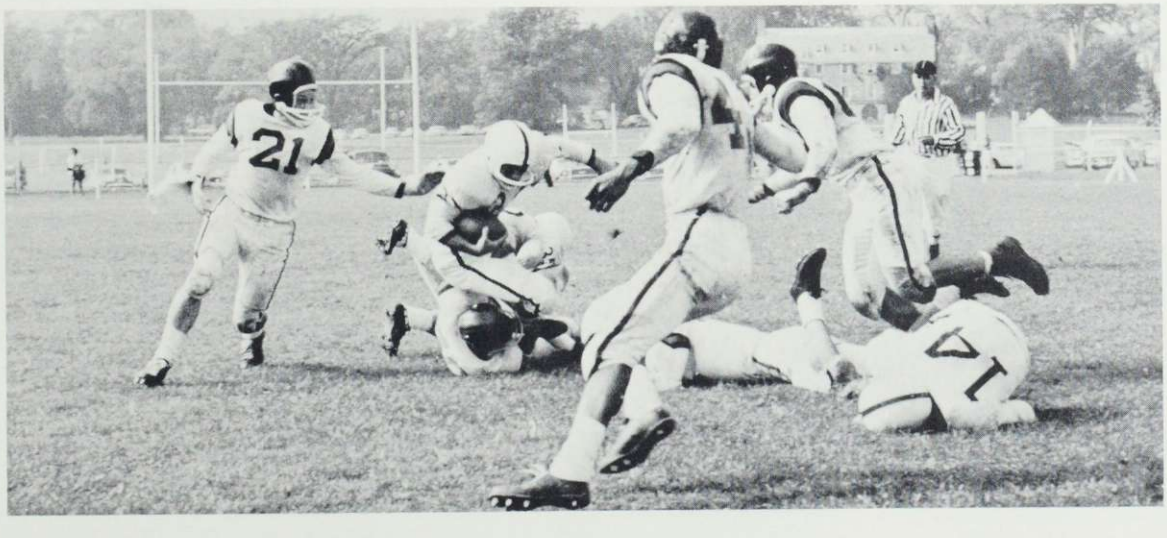
FOOTBALL



1960 was a year of surprises as far as football at Middlebury was concerned. What was supposed to be a weak team—lack of depth—came up with some fine 60 minute ball players and turned out an impressive 5-1-1 record.

The first surprise came in the very first game, when an underdog Midd team mounted just enough of an offense to beat Wesleyan, 6-0.

Then, after taking WPI 14-7, the Panthers took a favored Williams team for the first time in six years, Chris Morse starring in the rout.

Surprise number three came when an underdog Bates squad pushed Middlebury all over the field and still couldn't come out with anything better than a 14-14 tie.

There was nothing surprising about the demolition of RPI, but that was just the calm before the storm. The storm broke when a Norwich team which hadn't won a game eked out a 26-0 victory over a Midd team which hadn't lost one, and returned to Northfield with six intramural goal posts.

And the final surprise came when John Williams personally accounted for 137 yards against UVM, leading the way to a 28-6 victory, tie for the Vermont State Title, and record matching last years. Junior backs Chris Morse and Gordie Van Nes were the most spectacular players during the year, but credit for the fine season goes mainly to the two senior linemen, Bill Butler and Art Wilkes, who averaged 63 minutes a game. It will really be a surprise if they are easily replaced.

The team in action

The Middlebury soccer team of 1960 enjoyed one of its most successful seasons since the sport was offered by the college. The team boasted a 4-1-3 win-loss record after completing one of its most demanding schedules. In the first two games the booters soundly outscored Union and Clarkson, 5-1 and 7-1 respectively. The first away game slated the Panthers against the perennially strong MIT team. The 2-1 loss in the game proved to be Middlebury's only defeat. The team beat the previously undefeated Plattsburgh Teachers College 2-0. Two ties, RPI and Coast Guard, and a 4-2 victory over Norwich brought the booters to their last game against Amherst. Amherst was a strong candidate for representation of the East in the national soccer championships. Middlebury played one of the best games by tieing the heavily favored team 1 to 1.

The 1960 soccer team owed much of its success to its exceptional depth and proficient coaching by Joseph Marrone. The team was also well represented with respect to individual stars. Skillful freshman Keith Van Winkle was appointed to the first string all New England team while his brother Davis and captain-elect Denny Williams were placed on the second string of this team. Captain Tor Hultgreen made a new mark for Middlebury soccer, being acclaimed honorable mention on the all American team. This hard kicking senior led the team in scoring with 10 points (7 goals and 3 assists) and compiled a 32 goal total for his 4 years of varsity competition.

TENNIS

The usually strong tennis team suffered a lapse in statistical success for 1960 when it posted a deceptive 1-8 win-loss record. Much of the explanation of this record lies in the unusually strong opposition that the team faced. The first two matches Middlebury lost to two of the best teams in the East—Williams and Wesleyan. The netmen then faced Union College which beat the Panthers 6-3 by winning the singles. The next contest against RPI gave Middlebury its first and only victory. In this match the team won the last doubles match to defeat the Engineers 5 to 4. After losing to Dartmouth and St. Lawrence, the team lost a close match against heavily favored UVM. The return match with UVM was won by the Catamounts 7 to 2. The final contest of the year was played against the strong Colgate team who eventually won the match.

Graduation withdrew the service of captain Ed Sommers, Ike Krasts, and Sherb Merrill, but the remaining players, headed by captain-elect Art Wilkes, give promise for a successful season in 1961.

Lacrosse, that marvelously exhilarating sport, where the object of the game is to survive, again underwent an exciting and bruising season. Rapidly becoming one of the most popular spring sports at Midd, the spirited contests were eagerly attended.

Although the record was not glamorous, team effort was not lacking. Led by able co-captains, Gordie Chader and Tom Cornick, who is not essentially known for his defensive gentleness, the squad answered the battle cry of their dynamic coach, Joe Morrone, as well as could be expected. Middlebury, being a Northern college, does not often attract high school lacrosse players, and therefore some of the squad had little experience with lacrosse until they came here.

The team should be especially congratulated for attempting one of the most ambitious schedules of any Midd team. They lost to such formidable opponents as M.I.T., Union, and Amherst by only a single goal. Perhaps next year the team will be more fortunate.

GOLF

The high point of the golf season came with the Vermont State meet which Middlebury won by a decisive margin. Lenny Faxon was a co-medalist, shooting a brilliant 72. In the New Englands, captain-elect Faxon reached the semi-finals and then lost 3 to 2.

Next year's squad hopes to be even better with a large number of veterans returning. Faxon will be joined by Latreille, Dollar, Stubing, Geckel, Levinsohn, and Fryberger, more than enough to insure coach Duke Nelson of a solid nucleus. The clubbers are fortunate in having the Middlebury Golf Course within walking distance so that they can practice their shots daily. Again Midd will be favorites to retain their Vermont title and avenge losses to Clarkson, RPI, and Dartmouth. It is also possible that Faxon will walk off with the highly coveted New England Crown. These prospects would be most pleasing to coach Duke Nelson who is enjoying one of his most successful years as a coach.

idea man . . . the Keller yearbook representative

ROSWELL FARNHAM

To the casual reader a yearbook is often simply an "album" of pictures with accompanying identifications and enough written text to fill up the remaining holes on the pages. Merely ink on paper . . . though nice to own and enjoy.

But to the staff and the adviser the yearbook means much more. For yearbook work comprises a multitude of details: Layout, Art, Photography, Copy, Typography, Covers and Binding (not to mention the small detail of money-raising). Highly technical and often confusing, these details are at the very least time-consuming and a source of anxiety to a staff unless the publisher's representative is company-trained to give needed help and suggestions.

All representatives for Wm. J. Keller Inc. are skilled in the many facets of yearbook work, having at their finger-tips the answers to yearbook problems as well as a multitude of ideas for new graphic arts special effects, to enable the staff to produce a yearbook that is different and attractive. Your Keller salesman is more than a technical adviser, he is a "clearing-house" of yearbook ideas.
